Our readers will find nothing new in the in-formation that the month of September the pres-ent year is to be distinguished by one of the most marked events in the annals of Chicago. The week commencing Monday, September 12th, will be the occasion of the Great National Pair of the United States Agricultural Society to an additional interest to that period. There are many however who will for various reasons desire to know more fully concerning the great centre of attraction, the Fair. It will fill our city with guests and visitors gathered from all over the Union. It will be the occasion coveted by thousands of exhibitors for the generous rivalry elicited by the liberal and multifarious prizes offered.

prizes offered.

There are many questions being select just now concerning the Fair, as those would have been led wonderingly to confess who had ast with us for an hour or two in the apartments, at the Tremont House, of Col. Capron the Superintendent of the Fair, and witness how the letters and visitors are nonreal in successions.

As a National Agricultural Association, it has included without pressing upon or weakening the interests of all local associations. We be-the interests of all local associations. We be-lieve the first jealousy that was manifested in some quarters, lest the forthcoming exhibition here should detract from the interest of our State Agricultural Society and Fair, has died away. Indeed there is no room for such a sus-

Liberal reductions have been made by the railroads centering hare, which will have the effect to secure a large attendance upon the Fair, on most of these roads return passage and return freight go free. These rates to exhibitors commence on Wednesday, Sept. 7th,

A future reference to the Fair Grounds and their accommodations more in detail, will come more in place when the work now being pushed forward shall have been more nearly completed.

Let us say a little more on the subject of the Fair as regards inducement to exhibitors. Fifteen thousand dollars have been offered in premiums by the Society, and the list is largely increased by the special premiums offered by private citizens and associations. Manifestly the exhibitor, or those intending to become such, can best and in the only manner secure full information thereon by obtaining one of the catalogues of the prizes in the various departments.

The premium list comprises, however, a range so wide and comprehensive that it would be difficult, if indeed possible, to suggest an industrial pursuit, a calling of town or country, out, side the professions, that it not invited to a competition. It is open to both sexes and all classes. The farm may be proven and challenge comparison by its products, the minerals beneath its surface may be classified by the farmer's son. The herd may represent the skill and taste of the farmer, and the golden product of her dairy may do credit to the thrifty wife and daughters. The whest may tell of the fertility of our prairie fields and good bread may attest how nature is seconded in this same direction in the prairie homes.

But how can we particularize in such a myriad of ways open to the dwellars of the Northwest at this for the control of the control of the stems of the Northwest at this for the control of the stems of the Northwest at this for the control of the control of the control of the control of the stems of the Northwest at this for the control of th

Rouse of Representatives has been in the hand of the Democracy. The power possessed by them has been used to its utmost extent. No the slightest liberality or toleration has been annifested by them toward any other part whatever. Tilrough a bold and unserupulous partizan speaker, they have so organized committees as to bide as far as possible and to per mote the political iniquities practiced in all if departments and ramiflections of the government. mote the political iniquities practiced in all the departments and ramifications of the government. As a necessary consequence, corruption and peculation and swindling and downright robbery have verywhere reigned supreme. Facts have occasionally, in spite of all efforts at concealment and suppression, burst forth to the light of day, revealing the miserable condition of things that pervades the country.

We esteem it a fortunate thing for the nation that the majority of the House of Representatives has now passed from the polluted hands of the Democracy. We esteem if fortunate, for now, if the Opposition are honest and wise, they can and will expose to the eyes of the world those hidden things of darkness that men have had but vague and imperfect glimpses of during the last two years. It is true that neither the Republicans nor the Southern Americans will have a majority in the next House without cooperation with each other, and it is also true, that, upon some points, they are and may always be widely apart, but there is, there can be, no just reason under heaven why they should not unite in such an organization of the House as shall cause a prompt and full exposure of the malifications arrocities of the Government—When they cannot agree, let them differ, and differ as carneally as they will, but let them on an occount forego the opportunity now presented them of exposing the corruptions of the conservative mone enemy.

no account forego the opportunity now presented them of exposing the corruptions of the common enemy.

We cannot presume that the conservative memoers of Congress from the North and the conservative memoers of Congress from the North and the conservative memoers of Congress from the South will encounter any serious obstacle in their attempts to unite in the election of a Speaker who will make the committees of the House what they should be. Of course, other things being equal, we should prefer a Southern American for the Speakership, but unquestionably there are Northern conservatives who would do their whole duty in that high office. There are violent free-soilers in the North, whom we would never, under any conceivable circumstances, support for the first office in the House, but there are others to whom we certainly do not know any insurmountable objection. And the Hon. Thomas Corwin, of Ohio, is one of these. He is by no means fully identified with any existing party, and, although he probably agrees more nearly with the Republicans than with any other present organization, they regard him, and he regards himself, as standing in some things apart from them. We believe he is opposed to the extension of slavery, but as Speaker of the House, he would have no appointment of any committee that could exert any influence cither in favor of slavery extension or against it. And then his age, his eminent shillites, his large public experience, and his great weight of character entitle him to much consideration.

And there is another gentlemen, a member elect of the next House, whom we feel it a privalent of the conservation of the content of the rest House, whom we feel it a privalent of the conservation of the content of the content of the rest House, whom we feel it a privalent of the conservation of the content of the content of the rest House, whom we feel it a privalent of the conservation of t large public experience, and his great weight of character entitle him to much consideration.

And there is another gentlemen, a member elect of the next House, whom we feel it a privilege to mention in this connection. We refer to the Hon. Emerson Etheridge of Tennessee. We know that thousands are looking to him as the next Speaker. Ever among the trues to the true to the South, ever cherishing and guarding her interests with an unfaltering heart, he has done much to recommend himself to the true, conservative, libral, and large minded patriots of the North. In all Congress there was not a man, who, five years ago, fought the Anti-Kansas and Nebraska bills battle more bravely and more vigorously than he, and in all Tennessee there was not a man, who, two years ago, fought the anti-Lecompton battle with more spirit, energy and effect. We believe that the best men of the North would take pleasure in supporting him for the Speakership, and no one who knows him can doubt that he possesses in a most remarkable degree all the qualities that and

The war deities mindfal of the classic fame of Kilgubbin could not resist the temptation of kicking up a fracas on that time-honored battle ground. The easy occasion was a dance, the theme of course (vide Helen's case) was a woman, and for the sake of Jane Kennedy John Burns and Edward Fitzgerald battered one another in a tournament a la shillstah, for an hour, when Michael Kennedy plitched in and demolished the victor. Several arrests gave an aggregate of $55 fines. Wass are expensive. Kilgubbin contemplates a war loan.

The Fair can and should show the thousands of intelligent visitors that with a soil to give farm products not elsewhere richer and more ample, the West has the skill and knows how, Providence favoring, to produce just those crops. That with fast springing cities and towns throughout all her domain, the West among her own communities is neglecting no department of industry which shall fill her homes with all that wealth can have or luxury suggest, in the that wealth can buy or luxury suggest, in th that wealth can buy or luxury suggest, in the arts of highly civilized life.

What is the Northwest doing, what is Chicago in her own stead, doing to secure what lies within her easy grasp, that which is not on the National Society's list of prizes, and 'yet which is the result and end of all, the proper and adequate consequentiate of her natural resources. Several boon companions of the fall-en hero being present, it was gravely proposed among them that he might be robbed by some-body, and it would be well to prevent such a circumstance, acting on which suggestion they cleaned Dery's pockets, and taking an inventory found him possessed of nearly sixty dollars in money in a wallet, a gold watch and some trin-kets. These were delivered over to the salcon-keeper Melville. On Sunday, when the owner

To build a coffer dam in such depth of water was out of the question; and to build a pier without one, the following method was devised. An im-mense iron cylinder of boiler plate, one inch thick, 57 feet in diameter, and 100 feet high, was constructed, and set one end in the river, where the pier was to stand. The upper end was closed with the same kind of iron plate and the water forced out and air forced in by means of a steam engine. The workmen were then enabled to descend into it as into an immense diving bell. They excavated the mud and Phinter with Mungage Attempts to Escap—About 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning M Harris, who has charge of the county jail, it is city, wha aroused by a noise in the jail it dication that the prisoners were making anoth attempt to escape. On proceeding to the common hall, he found the prisoners were all or of their cells, whereupon he fired a pistol amout them which drove them back. On examination he found that Fisher, whose reprieve from Got Hissell arrived just in time to sare his necl from the halter, had succeed in wrenching twitten bars from the grated door of his cell, leaving an opening sufficient to enable him to ge into the common hall. He then, with one of the from bars, proceeded to break the locks of the other cells, so that all the prisoners were contact the hall. The party (nne in humber) then proceeded, with the tron bars, to dig a hold through the wall, and had made considerable progress, when they were surprised by the shot from the jailor. To make light to work by, Fisher had generously sacrificed his bed, which was torn up and burst piecemeal. The jail is so well secured by the heavy additional cut stone wall recently built on the outside, that with all their iron bars, it is doubtful whether an opening large enough to enable the prisoners to escape could have been made, but the damage done to the jail by the attempt, is sufficient to put the county to another expense of $50 or $100. We learn that a watchman is now stationed in the jail during the night.

Fisher, who manifested so much indifference and stolidity previous to his conviction, appears to have become aroused since his rial, and now makes no secret of it that he will do all in his power to escape, and that in all other respects to the county to another expense of $50 or $100. looking sad and dejected, is on the ground. The raitrost barpies and sbysters of Wisconsin and Minnessta are here too, hanging apon the coat akirts and dogging the footsteps of the delegates, begging them to have the party take grounds in favor of a tax bill to meet the interest upon the State railroad bonds voted by the people.

It is impossible to describe the character of the Convention as between Douglas and Buchanan. "Old Joe Brown," Buchanan's Indian Agent, seems to have the Convention entirely in his own hands, while the Douglas men assert

The main contest to-day, was over the report of the Committee on Credentials. Joe Brown had brought in delegations from some fifteen or twenty "sew counties." So "new," indeed, that no one but the old Indian Agent himself knew anything of their existence. Mr. Caruthers, and other delegates, objected to the admission of delegates from counties whose names, location, and houndarise existed only in the sion of delegates from counties whose names, location and boundaries existed only in the imagination of the President's Indian Agent. Mr. Caruthers told the Convention that if they would give him the chance, he would prove that those counties had no existence in fact, that there were neither Democratic or Republican voters in such counties, that no white men Convention, that the only object in this new county movement was to carry out a grand system of frauds, of the "Breech Clout" and Caruthers statements, but very plainly hinted to the Convention that if his delegates were re-jected they would find themselves short of votes in October. THE CAMPAIGN IN KANSAS.

Huscotine Journal.

Hossis Trisviss.—The whole County appear to be infested with Horse Thieves as well a thieves that are not horse. Some infernal villain with the air of respectability about him hired a good herse and buggy of Messrs. E. M. Dennik & Co., last week. Up to this time has fergotten to return them. There is said, be a gang of horse thieves and black legs whrendexous in a very impenetrable plate in Wiconsin, known as Genera Woods. It is to honed the rang may be taken up.—Waudeyn.

make Kansas one of the greatest States in the world. The State of New York—the Empire State—has 47,000 square miles. The State of Pennsylvania—the Keystone State—has 46,000 square miles. Ohio has 39,264 square miles. Under this Constitution, Kansas would contain almost as many square miles as the three greatest States of the American Union put together. It would be almost as large as Great Britain and freland, which contains only 107,000; and as large as Belgium, Portugal, Switzerland, and several other important European States, all put together. It is all folly, therefore, to speak of the proposed State being too samil. There is no need for States of the American Union to be as large as the whole continues to Europe. Our system of government looks to small States, and power well distributed. In addition to this, however, the gold region is over 500 miles from Eastern Kansas. A great desert intervence between them. The inhabitants of the one are miners, those of the other almost entirely agriculturalists. They are distinct communities. They are nothing in common to require a common government. Besides, the inhabitants of the figure of the gold region are unanimously opposed to being taken into our State. Surely, se will not "force a Constitution upon an unwilling people." It is urged, however, that by separating the two communities, feo States will have to build the Pacific Raiiroad to the top of the Rocky Mountains, instead of one. But why object to this? Would in the be a most excellent arrangement? Cannot Congress grant. honed the gang may be taken up.—Waui-egan Gasette.

How at Mr. Pleasant,—Seven men were arrested at Mt. Pleasant the other day on a charge of horse stealing and counterfeiting. A very lurge amount of bogus coin was found in their possession, together with all the implements of their rade. The men resisted the officers stoutly, and quite a little riot occurred before they were arrested. Several shots were fired, and Depatty Sheriff Penuy was wounded in the face by a pistol ball.—Burlington Hawk Eye.

YOUTHYUL VILLAINS.—A conspiracy has recently been discovered in Port Byson, which when ferreted out, will probably implicate the children of some of the most respectable inmilies of that village. It appears that a number of voing men had formed a secret society, which had for its object the robbing of stores, houses and orizens, and to accomplish their end, they were bound to commit murder, if necessary. A bold act led to the detection of one of the unberging of scarps, which whole scheme. Active measures were immediately faken to arrest the members of this youthful band of scamps, which was partially successful. Three or four were taken and conflued in jud. but she larger portion of them escaped to the woods, where they are still running at large.

Strang Being in the Modes.—Just as our Datemport Democrat.

STRANGE BEING IN THE WOODS.—Just as we have not got all the patriots in the country.

The other great objection urged against the Constitution, is because of its plans of apportioning the State for the election of the first Legislature. But the trouble here, is exclusively among the politicians. The Democrate are afraid the Republicans will carry the Legislature. But this is a small objection, It will not concern the people much. The object of requiring members of a Legislature to be elected from different districts, is to secure a representation as just as may be of the different interests in the community, which may be effected by the action of the government. If an apportionment answers this end, all is well, no matter how many counties may be put together to con-

Douglas, Johnson, and Wyandol, may make as good a district as the county of Douglas alone. As to the interests of the Democratic party in the premises, that is a matter which is will hardly do to legislate for in making a State Constitution. At any rate, the people will hardly be justified in voting it down for the sake of their Democratic friends. It would dost more than it would come to.

These are not all the objections to the Constitution, but they are the most prominent. They are the ones upon which the opposition generally rest their case. It is clear that they are not sufficient. They are shallow and unsatisfactory. I am satisfied, my fellow citizens, that you will not consent to remain in a state of ferritorial dependence any longer upon such grounds as these. The Constitution is bound to be ratified by an overwhelming majority of the people of Kansas, and the young State, after trials and triumphs such as face the lot of few infant communities, will take her place in the American Union, as one of the noblest of the great sisteahood.

Kidnappers About.

Ridnappers About.

From a few facts which came to our knowledge yesterday, we awticipate that the usual queit of Bloomington may yet be disturbed by either a case of kidnapping, or foreible and unpleasant detention of the person of a vagaboud now in our midst. The substance of the matter is that if the month of March, 1358, Mr. William Hamilton, from Thomas County, Georgia, arrived is this city, bringing with hum three manumitted slaw some and their five children. Mr. H. proceeded at once to place them in possession of a comfortable little property in the southwest part of town, of which the women were to have the occupate, and use, but which belonged to the children. The necessary papers of freedom, and for the protection of their property, were placed in the hands of a responsible law firm of this city. Mr. Hamilton returned to Georgia, and has been some time deceased, leaving a widow but no children. One John McIutosh, who was appointed administrator of the estate, in overhaning the private paters of the deceased, dispusant continues and thinking in his sordid soul (?) to add a few dollars to his sinched ill notten accession, seaked off, unreversed; there, the testimony of a bia against a white is refused; here the evidence a white against a black is void! There, a sla being himself a chattel—in some States held Fending a Tell machine. voltaire's Charles XII; new edition. Igdrail, or Tree of Exis So far as it has progressed, both the mater al and the work are of the very best description. Near by it stands the "Nanvoe Mansion," a hotel kept by the present husband of the widow of Joseph Smith, Esq. With the busband we had the pleasure of forming an acquaintance. The wife was invisible; nor, as we were not prepared to claim any relation with her respected first husband, did we succeed in procuring an introduction. So far the visit was a failure.

We doubt if in all this western world, a city of three thousand inhabitants can be found so smitten with absolute duliness, as Nauvoo. Its duliness approaches the sublime, in fact: the stillness of the streets is much like that "expressive silence" of which the poet speaks. We could easily number on our fingers every living creature whom we met in the course of pretty extensive perambulations on our way up to the temple. They were first an frishman with a scythe on his shoulder, then a little boy, then a nervous dog that ran out to bark formously at the stranger, then a girl, who, however, dedged under cover as quickly as possible, and last of all, a Frenchman, whose lively talk and abundant gesticulations were like a resurrection. One other personage fell in our way after our explorations had been finished. He, we fancy, represents pretty accurately the general and the present and the present and the present accurately the general and the present and the present accurately the general and the present and the present accurately the general and the present and the present accurately the general and the present and the present and the present accurately the general and the present and the present accurately the general and the present and the procurately the general and the present and the present and the present and the procurate and the present and the procurate and the procurate INITED STATES DIGEST. We might have said to him if it had not been so utterly out of keeping with the apirit of the place as to be equivalent to talking treason, that the best espitaliss is all this world is Work and if Work should happen along in Nauvos some day and make a hoberal investment there, For sale at D. B. COOKE & CO.'S Law Book Store, No. 111 Lake street. AT COOKE'S LAW BOOK and it Work should happen along in Nauvoo some day and make a hiseral investment there, it would be just about the most desirable thing that could occur. Such a suggestion, however, was not to be thought of, nor did we dare to hint a suspicion as to whether shrifteaness really is, after all, the very climax and crown of all the ritters. So we left him sitting in the shade at his door, smoking his cigar and waiting for "somebody" to come and buy him out. The Mormon temple must have been a noble building. Only the front is now standing; embracing the porch, with the directar tower at each corner, up which a spiral stairway ran to the top of the building. The exterior is of dressed stone, with handsome carrings. Of the symbolical figures with which the whole building was adorned, there remains over each of the ten pilasters that appear on the front and side walls, a buman head surrounded by rays, with two hands above each one, reaching down from above and biolding what seems the cornuccipia. The head with says, they say, represents the sun, and the whole is designed to symbolica abundance. The edifice was one hundred feet long, and one bundred and twenty wide. Book and Paper teal voo has some additional notoriety in having been made the place of location of a French-community called Icarians. This community was founded in France in the year 1848, by M. Cabet. Sixty-nine of the number composing Plumbing. D. McFARLANE'S Gas, Steam Fitting, PLUMBING ESTABLISHMENT. 54 Lasalle street, Chicago. Gas Fixtures and Iron Furnitus PRACTICAL PLUMBER ALL KINDS OF STEAM WORK. TO THE TRADE What with the Mormons and the Icarians, Malvoo has seemed pretty well surrendered to functionam and radicalism. We saw one German Lutheran church there, however, and have been told that other denominations of Christians might secure a representation there and in the riculty, if inclined to make the effort. The place is worth redeeming. No more beautiful site for a town can be found on the Mississippi. There are the beginnings of a well built city. Let is be restored from diapariation and shiftlessness, let the gospel be sent there, and Nauvoomay yet be sorthy of notice for something better than as having been one of the "strkes" or the Mormon "Zior." Upon his arrival (July 18th), he was waited upon by the Typographical and Press Association of Great Sail Lake City, who tendered to him a public reception.

This being accepted, the Court-room of the Council House was arranged for his benefit in a style of great magnifecence. Horace, on being introduced to the audience, made a long speech, in which he dwelt mainly upon the typographical profession. R. T. CRANE & BROTHER Steam Apparatus, in which he dwelt mainly upon the typographical profession.

He was received with great respect by the Mormons, and frequently cheered.

Mormon leaders followed the philosopher of the N. Y. Tribuns. Between their speeches he made a remark to the following effect:

"However much I may like the Mormons, there is one thing that I have noticed. I have read your journal often, and have met many Mormons, but I have never yet seen an expression, or heard a Mormon come out boldly and decidedly as anti alarery. I would like them much better if this thing could be corrected."

The government of Zurich had welcomed the ambassadors and was to give them a public reception on the 11th. The first formal sitting of the Congress took place on the 8th, at which the Sardinian Representatives assisted. The second sitting was held on the 9th, but nothing transpired as to the proceedings.

On the 9th of August the affairs of Italy were discussed in both Houses of Parliament. In the house of Lords, the Marquis of Normandy asked if there was any objection to produce the papers relative to the projects of peace transmitted to Austria before the treaty of Villa Franca. He denounced the conduct of the Government as undecided, and evincing no desire to maintain neutrality.

Lord Woodhouse reiterated the statement that England sent terms of peace to Austria, at the request of France, but without giving any advice, or expressing an opinion on the subject. He said it would be most inconvenient to produce the documents in the present state of negotiations.

He said it would be most inconvenient to produce the documents in the present state of negotiations.

Earl Granville acknowledged the act of Lord John Russell as the united act of the Cabinet. In the House of Commons Lord Elcho moved an address to the Queen, declaring that it would be inconsistent with the honor and dignity of England, after having maintained a strict neutrality, to take part in any conference for settling the details of peace, the preliminaries of which have already been arranged between the Emperors of France and Austria. Lord Elcho praised the neutral course of the late government, and censured the entire Austrian feeling evinced by the present Cabinet.

Mr. Kinglake moved the previous question, feeling it would be unwise to bind the Government to any line of policy, regardless of changes which might take place at any hour.

Mr. Gladatione said, the member's motion was not relevant to the present position of affairs. The Government to any line of policy, regardless of changes which might take place at any hour.

Mr. Gladatione said, the member's motion was not relevant to the present position of affairs. The Government had no intention of taking part in settling the details of peace on the basis of the Villa Franca treaty. The beligerents themselves would settle those details, and what would remain to be sattled, would be the great would remain to be sattled, would be the great to his pleasure, under the dictates of his own conscience.

H. G.—What is done with the proceeds of this tithing?

B. Y.—Part of it is devoted to building temples and other places of worship; part to helping the poor and seedy converts on their way to this country; and the largest portion to the support of the peor among the Sants.

H. G.—Is none of it paid to Bishops and other dignitaries of the Church?

B. Y.—Not one penny. No Bishop, no Elder, no Deacon, or other Church officer, receives any compensation for his official services. A Bishop is often required to put his hand in his ewn pocket and provide therefrom for the poor of his charge; but he never receives anything for his services.

sive vote against the resolution.

Mr. S. O. Fitzgerald said, the subject of the resolution was to restrain the Government from carrying out its personal sympathies, which were inconsistent with the treaty obligations of the country. Parliament ought not to sanction

FOREIGN NEWS.

From Washington-The African Warmrorow Aug. 23—The Administration has bestowed upon the subject of the African Slave Trade its earnest attention and with the view of suppressing as far as possible this traffic, has initiated measures more efficient and more extensive than ever before for that purriew of suppressing as far as possible this traffic, has initiated measures more efficient and more extensive than ever before for that purpose.

The squadron for the coast of Africa as arranged by the Secretary of the Nary will consist of the following named vessels: The steamers Mystic, Sumpter, San Jacinto, and the Mohicae, and the sloops-of-war Constellation, the flag ship Portsmouth, Martion, and Vicennes. The most efficient officers are assigned to their command. Those of the steamers Mystic and Sumpter are respectively, Lieut. W. E. Leroy, and Lieut. J. F. Armstrong. These gentlemen were as their own request ordered to this service. Their vessels being of light draft can penetrate waters too shallow for those which have heretofore been on that coast, besides having the advantage of steam; hence slavers will be more closely pursued.

The joint treaty with England requires that the United States shall keep there a force of eighty guns, but by the recent arrangement on the part of the Administration, the number of our guns will be one hundred and sixteen.

Mr. Birney, who succeeds Mr. Morse as naval storekeeper, went out in the Constellation, with instructions to remove the naval depot of the African squadron from Porte Praya to San Paul de Leando, which is three hundred and thirty-six miles distant from Porte Praya. This new depot will consequently be much nearer than the former to the principal points of traffic on the coast, and will in a great measure obviate the necessity of long cruises.

On our own coast there is to be an efficient naval force, composed of the steamers Crusader, Lieut. Maffatt; the Mohawk, Lieut. Crawford; the Wyandotte, Lieut. Stanley, and the Fulton, Commander G. G. Williamson. They are to cruise in the neighborhood of Cuba for the purpose of capturing any slaver which may by their expertness escape the vigilance of our naval force on the African coast. These arrangements of the Navy is now hurrying the preparations of such of the vessels as are yet in port, for this important serv

BACKVILLE, N. B., Aug. 22.—We learn from Halifax that McKay's jatable at Truro has been burnt, and that all the horses, numbering ten, perished in the flames. As there horses included those used specially for expressing the steamers' news from Halifax to Sackville for the Associated Press, it is feared there will be unusual delay with the steamer Canada's news, now nearly at hand. The fire was undoubtedly, it is said, the work of an incediary, and as it may be a part-of the machinery by which some fraud is to be perpetrated in connection with the next news from Europe, the commercial public should be more than usually cautious

BREADSTUPPS AND PROVISIONS.—Upon the application of the New York Chamber of Complication of the New York Chamber of Com-merce, the Secretary of the Treasury has fur-nished an exhibit of the aggregate value of Breadstuffs exported to foreign countries from the United States, for each year, 1828-1858; also the export value of Provisions for the same also the export value of Provisions for the same period.

This exhibit is published in full in the Report of the Chamber of Commerce for the past year. We extract for our columns the statement for the past seventten years only (out of thirty-one) commencing with the year 1842. The importance of Breadstuffs in our export trade to Europe, &c., is thus fully shown, as well as the part which Salted Provisions occupy in our foreign export. The shipment of Breadstuffs in 1850-1757 exceeded that of the famous famine year, 1847, while that of provisions was larger in 1855-6 than at any previous or su-sequent period. If we could rely upon such an export (74 to 77 millions annually) for the future, it would give a great stimules to production in our country:—

The wheat market on Saturday was quite firm. The wheat market on Saturday was quite firm, but we can hardly say that an advance was established; this much we are warranted, however, in saying that the outside prices of Friday were more willingly paid, and all that was on the market went off quickly. Sales did not much exceed 3,000 bushels at 55c for old No. 1 55@ over firm No. 1 (uninspected); 70@736 for extra No. 1, and 77 @706 for new extra club. It was the remembered that these are not established grades, but merely reported according to the judgment of the seller in each case. The new inspection will no doubt very essentially alter the present standard. There were no transactions in flour. Oats sold at a range of the 27 to 29c, to retail dealers; no shippers buying. In flour there is a better feeling, and probably without any reasonable cause, other than the influence of vesterday's New York news. The market has displayed its asual inherent strength in its recent movements, slow to respond to a depression in consuming markets. The first symptom of improvement at once strengthens and stimulates it. For wheat there is a fair market, at 95 for red, and $1.08@1.10 for white. There is no change in corn.
